Fullstack Developer

Full Stack Developer specialized in creating robust and scalable applications with Node. My experience also covers Frontend development with React, which allows me to have a comprehensive vision of web development. I am looking to contribute with my skills as a Full Stack Developer.

Education

Higher School of Commerce N° 49 Justo Jose De Urquiza, Software Development Associate's Degree, April 2023 - November 2025

Professional Experience

Freelance

Fullstack Developer   Julio 2023 – Right Now

- Designed and implemented a platform for managing product recalls, which allows members of the organization to monitor and control recalls made by customers. Its main objective is to ensure that users do not exceed previously established recall limits.
- I created a complete e-commerce system from scratch, which included the integration of a secure and efficient payment gateway. The purchasing process covers everything from product selection to final payment.
- I developed a website to showcase a range of clothing, highlighting the available products through a visually appealing and functional design.
